

DataLink Expands Executive Team, Names General Counsel and Chief Human Resources Officer

DataLink Software \(DataLink\), a leading provider of data-driven solutions driving higher quality and cost-effective value-based care announces the appointment of Jenifer Brown as general counsel and Vineet Gambhir as chief human resources officer.

“We are expanding our executive leadership team with highly qualified professionals who exemplify our dedication to serving our clients and our most important asset, our employees,” says Ashish Kachru, CEO, DataLink. “This increased executive level bench strength enables us to serve an even greater number of clients in the payer and at-risk provider communities and distinguishes our market position.”

Brown served for ten years as general counsel and chief administrative officer at Altruista Health. Additionally, she served as general counsel of Santeon and as an attorney with BakerHostetler in the firm’s healthcare group. She holds Law and MBA degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

“I look forward to contributing to DataLink’s business goals and serving our clients,” says Brown. Kachru adds, “Jenifer is an expert in the legal field and her background in healthcare will be invaluable to the company and our customers.”

Kachru also cites Gambhir’s experience saying, “Vineet is a people-oriented, high performance and results-driven HR executive with experience in strategic human resources, HR information systems, digital transformation and setting up scalable operations. This experience will support our continued growth as we scale to meet the needs of our national customer base.”

Gambhir has held several senior leadership roles at innovative technology companies, including Intel, HCL America, Cisco and Yahoo! His global experience spans multiple markets including the United States, China, India and Singapore. He earned his MBA in Human Resources at the University of Maryland.

“People are at the core of DataLink’s success and position as an industry leader and I am looking forward to playing a role on this talented team of professionals,” says Gambhir.
